Improve!

To a remarkable degree the attention of Eastern people is being turned to Southern California. For health and pleasure, and to escape the rigors of a Northern winter, thousands leave their homes in the Eastern States, for a milder climate. They have been going to Italy, to the Bermudas, to Florida, but as the fame of our incomparable climate is spread abroad, the tide sets more rapidly in our favor, till now one can hardly feel that he has traveled, till Los Angeles has been visited.

Once here, they all agree that for healthfulness, for comfort, and for beauty the climate of Los Angeles exceeds all the other popular places of resort. But travelers, and especially invalids are apt to be exacting. They have been used to the old, wealthy, and highly improved cities of the East, and if we wish to keep them, we must improve.

Both public and private improvements are demanded. Our streets should be graded and paved. Our sidewalks and crossings need repairing and extending. We want more and better churches.

Private property owners can do a great work for the community by improving and beautifying their homes. The prodigal soil and climate make it a pastime to cultivate fruits and flowers. A little taste, a few dollars of expenditure, and an hour or two of labor daily, will transform the humblest home into a garden of delight.

Many are prone to wait for the city to move, and think that while the public is indifferent, it is not worth their while to make an effort. They should not forget that it is by individual effort that great changes are wrought in a country. A tastefully arranged garden or yard begets a desire on the part of others to possess a home of equal beauty, and often the improvement of a single lot will lead to the embellishing of a whole street.

We have many beautiful homes in Los Angeles, but there is room and opportunity for more. The long breezy sweep of our principal thoroughfares, the green, rolling hills that overlook the city, the wide level plain to the South and West, afford charming spots, that the hand of industry and refinement can cover with pleasant Cities are built by energy and perseverance. Everyone must work for the common good, and strive for the general advantage. We can best bring all things right, by each doing his own work well.

THE Boston Grange doesn't intend to be squelched by the National Council, if its charter is withdrawn. That cil, if its charter is withdrawn. That body, composed as it is of men whose only interest in agriculture consists in "margins" on mythical transactions in grain, will be continued as an independent organization, though for what purpose it is hard to imagine.

W. E., THE UNDERSIGNED, have this day dissolved copartnership by mutual consent. All debts owing to the said partnership are to be paid to the firm of HARPER & LONG, and all demands upon said partnership are to be presented to HARPER & LONG for payment. Harper & Long are authorized to settle all debts due to and by the late firm of Harper & Dalton.

R. H. DALTON, C. F. HARPER, Los Angeles, February 24, 1874. what purpose it is hard to imagine.

A Wisconsin financier objects to the further payment of the Public Debt, reasoning that at the rate business increases, it will not be long before the whole two thousand millions of Government bonds will be needed as a basis for circulating notes.

THE woman's anti-liquor crusade is going on with undiminished vigor in Ohio, but meets with some opposition in New York. Mrs. Stanton does not look on it with favor; doubtless likes applying a more heroic treatment.

The French in America. The Revue des Deux Mondes, says the London correspondent of the Boston Advertiser, has not yet recovered the fame it enjoyed before the war. It has lost several brilliant contributors within the last seven years, and their places are vacant. After coquetting for some time with the Conservative party, the Revue is now a little more liberal, and scarcely shivers so much as it did at the word Republic. But people scarcely read it for its political articles. Madame George Sand is writing a story in it in the old fashion. The style is perfect and the incidents entertaining, while the writer seems absolutely unconscious of the shock she gives by her extraordinary plainness of phrase and animation. In the new number of the Revue Mons. L. Simonin treats the French readers to a very sensible account of what he has just seen in the United States of immigration. M. Simonin has visited America several times in connection with engineering works. He deplores the mismanagement which charaterized the recent removal of Alsatians to Algeria, and is inclined to despair when he witnesses the restlessness of his countrymen in the United States. The Frenchman who does not understand English, and who will not take the trouble to learn it, quickly feels himself isolated in the midst of intensifies the beauty of the female face. There manners which he but little understands. He regrets his cafes, his theatres, his promenades, and is ill at teeth. ease in this country, where there are because no one speaks but when he has something to say. He is restless, he complains both of things and of men; he dwells angrily upon the ques-tion of the Jewish rest,—"this Protestant Sabbath which makes New York, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, and Chicago—on other days so animated—on this day as silent as the grave, (!) It is less so at New Orleans, formerly French, and San Francisco, where they slightly relax the biblical cusomt of keeping Sunday as a day of mourning; and thus the French give their preference to these two towns, whose pleasures they never cease to vaunt. In any case, no Frenchman expects to leave his bones in America; each one dreams of returning some day to the beautiful country of France.' With such ideas they cannot become serious colonists, and that is why the French have not yet succeeded in founding in the United States a single prosperous settlement." M. Simonin appears to feel that there are peculiarities in the national character against which it is almost hopeless to strive. which it is almost hopeless to strive,— while yet he cannot reconcile himself to the thought that in the future of the world his race is to have so insignificant a place.

A number of the citizens of Tehama county have agreed to prosecute every case of violation of the law for the protection of the deer, which comes to their knowledge.

The Hill Improvements.

Water is the all important question in Southern California. Let there be water and everything in the vegetable line springs up and grows with a growth unparalleled in other localities. Orange trees spring up with mar-vellous rapidity, and the spot becomes a little paradise under the manipula-tion of industry, wherever water can

The hill lands have been delayed in their sale simply because the arrangements for water were insufficient. The time given for their sale has consequently been extended for two months. A large reservoir, capable of containing untold hundreds of thousands of gallons of water, is now being constructed. An engine and pump is now on its way hither, which will raise 50,000 gallons of water per hour into the reservoir, more than is now con-sumed by the entire city of Los An-

All lots must be sold previous to April 12th, for upon that date those that are left will be disposed of at public auction, by the popular auctioneer, Noyes. They will be sold on the in-stallment plan, at his rooms in the Temple Block, on Spring street; the first installment payable on day of which are already in the ground, and a million gallon reservoir is now being made to supply the lots with water.

The City Surveyor has been ordered to define the grades and lines of Olive, Charity and Bunker Hill avenues, from Hill to Hope; Second street and Temple street from Hill to Hope. This will bring these lands within easy reach of the business part of the city. The distance to the Court House is less than it is to the Turner's Hall.

than it is to the Turner's Hall. Mr. Beaudry being the owner, by perfect and indisputable title, offers the following scheme, believing that it supplies a felt want. His various tracts have been surveyed, and platted in lots of convenient size for residences, upwards of two hundred in number, and the maps, together with abstracts of title, are kept for public inspection at his office, opposite the Pico House. Any person desiring to purchase can inspect the land, select his lot or lots, and acquire the same, if not previously taken up by another, upon the follow-ting terms, purchasers not being re-sricted to a single lot: The purchaser or his successor to pay the fixed price of the lands selected by the fixed price of the lands selected by him, in equal monthly installments, as follows: On lots valued at $400 and upwards, but not to exceed $500, $15 per month; on those valued at $300 and less than $400, $10 per month. Paymeuts in gold or currency, and no interest demanded. For cash in hand a reduction of fifteen per cent, will be

The purchaser to have immediate possession upon payment of the first installment and on execution and delivery of contract.

The right of the purchasers may be assignable by him, and his assigns to succeed to all his privileges and liabilities; standing in all respects towards the vendor as an original obligor. Purchasers shall not be restricted to the payment of the installments as above shown, but may make pay ments in advance, and on such pay-ments he will allow one per cent. per month, from the date of payment until said payment would become due. Upon selection of a lot or lots by purchaser, and payment of the first in-stallment with five dollars in U.S. gold coin, as expenses on the docu-ment, Mr. Beaudry, with the purchaser, will execute and acknowledge a sealed agreement, embodying the above conditions; and, upon full payment, according thereto, the undersigned will execute and deliver to the purchaser, or his lawful representatives, on demand, a good and sufficient and absolute deed of conveyance of the abstracted lands, in form of warranty against granter, the grantee paying the cost of such deed. The location is very desirable. All that has heretofore been lacking is water, and that want is now fulfilled. Anywhere else, in as desirable location, lots readily command from $500 to $1,000, and even higher rates. This property is put at the astonishing low price of from $300 to $400. But this is not all. This may be paid in currency and a reduction of fifteen per cent. will be made for cash in hand.

Merced Theatre.

"East Lynne" was the play at the Theatre last night. It was the benefit night of Mrs. Phelps, and without pre-varication, considering the deficien-cies of the stage appointments and conveniences, it was very creditably presented. This company has performed here for the past two weeks to scarcely paying houses. Why our Theatre-going people have not more generally attended is something we cannot comprehend. Their performances, considering the circumhave certainly been very creditable since their advent here.

Mrs. Phelps is an acknowledged artiste in all the roles she assums, and Mr. Piercy is equally meritorious in his impersonations. To-night two new and attractive plays are announced, and our people will miss a chaste and enjoyable entertainment if they do not attend.

CODE COMMENTARIES

BY CHAS. LINDLEY, Late Code Commissioner.

PART I. of this work is now ready for the I.-Disintegration and Integration of Legal II.-Historic Glance at Codification. III .- Practical Codification and Amend-

IV.—Appendix. Letter to H. H. Haight and others—Future Treatment of the Codes. Under the first head are briefly treated-The Philosophy of Law; The Science of Law; Common and Statute Law—their Flexibility and Rigidity; Fragmentary Expression of the Common Law; Effect of Political and Social Common Law; Effect of Political and Social Changes on Level Systems.

Duder the second head is contained a Historic Glance at Codification, including Roman, French, Spanish, Canadian and American. Thus far the work presents a clear, terse view of the subject, and brings the reader to the third head, Practical Codification, with his mind better prepared to appreciate what follows.

Ollows.

Under the third head, Practical Codification, are the sub-heads: Axiomatic Propositions: Preparation of the Act authorizing Codification: Requisite Qualification of Commissioners; Compensation; Time for the Pertormance of the Work; and Rules for Codification and Amendment. These rules, seventeen in number, are elaborated and illustrated by sections drawn from the Code.

The work has an eight page Appendix, in The work has an eight page Appendix, in the form of a letter to H. H. Haight and the form of a letter to H. H. Haight and others, touching the author's connection with the Code Commission and the causes of his resignation; touching also the future treatment of the Codes. The last is an important matter, and should engage the attention of every lawyer in the State. The author is evidently master of his subject, and has given to it an unsparing, analytical. demonstrative treatment. The work has come in a most opportune moment, containing, as it does, most important recommendations as to the mode of amending the Codes.

The work will be mailed, post paid, by SUMNER WHITNEY & CO., San Francisco, on receipt of price, $1 00.
